Our Citizenship is in Heaven: Exiles Who Are In But Not Of the World

In this year's Theology Conference, we will focus on life and ministry in a postmodern and increasingly post-Christian culture, and some of the biggest issues we are facing, either of the church understanding the world, or of the cultural and apologetic issues facing the church today. Added to these cultural issues is the pandemic. Not only has living in the midst of a pandemic created issues in and for the church, it has also manifested and revealed issues within the church. Jesus teaches that as Christians we are "in but not of the world." We, like God, "love the world" and we "do not love the world" at the same time. God is there and he is not silent regarding any of these issues! It is critical for us to hear and be reminded of God's truth. We will address the reality and implications of being pilgrims, exiles who are in but not of the world.
